Coal Characteristics

Coal is a fossil fuel, consisting of volatile matter, inherent moisture and important combustible mixture of carbon. After combustion with the volatile matter and inherent moisture driven out, small portion of coal ash remains. Coal is found in various forms or grades based on the contents of heating or calorific value, volatile matter and fixed carbon, representing in descending order of quality in 4 groups from (1) anthracite, (2) bituminous, (3) sub-bituminous, and (4) lignite. The indigenous coal deposits in that have been explored and extensively developed for local industries in Thailand are generally of lignite grade. Imported coal is mostly of bituminous grade which contains higher calorific value than lignite coal produced in Thailand.

The price of coal is usually determined based on the quality of coal, consisting of calorific value, moisture, volatile matter, fixed carbon, ash, sulfur and size.

Coal Production

Coal is formed in several stages from plant remains that have been compacted, hardened, chemically altered and metamorphosed by heat and pressure over millions of years. Therefore, in order to develop a coal mine, coal exploration works are required for the collection and interpretation of geological data in order to learn about the thickness of coal seams, boundary areas of the coal resource, chemical content and quality, and economic reserve estimation. The development of coal deposit is generally based on the information and data obtained from these exploration programs. Accordingly, the production of coal consists of following three major steps:

(1) Coal Exploration: The exploration program begins with the preliminary collection and analysis of the land surface and geological data at the target areas. Subsequently, fieldwork includes scout drilling to study the formation and type of soil and rock, and geological structure of the target areas to ascertain that there exists the coal deposit with further assessment of coal quality and reserve estimation for economic analysis to facilitate a decision for further development of the coal mine.

(2) Coal Mining: Before proceeding with coal mining operation, more detail drilling activities are required to collect and interpret necessary information and data of the mining areas; such as, coal reserves and quality for each of the coal seam formations including soil layers. The collected data and information will be used to determine the mine master plan which includes the analysis of mining costs and mining methods, as well as the quantity and areas for overburden removal and coal winning logistics, and also selection of suitable mining equipment and machinery.

(3) Coal Dressing: In order to attain the quality as required by the users or customers, coal extracted from the coal mining operation need to go through coal dressing process which includes crushing, sizing, sorting and washing to remove any contaminations, etc.

Coal Pricing Policy

Coal pricing is mainly determined by its heating value, similar to other type of fuels. Coal sale price for each customer varies depending on certain factors such as order volume, coal specifications such as calorific value, credit term and other conditions specified by the customer. These factors shall be used to determine the coal price fairly and similarly with all the customers. The price for imported coal is based on the agreement with each customer which can either be priced on FOB or CIF basis, or priced as delivered to the customer’s factory, etc.

Coal Distribution

For coal distribution in the domestic market, the Company directly sells coal directly to customers without going through agent. As for the overseas market, coal are sold directly to the customers or through coal trading agents, mostly on the credit term basis, of which the Company carefully provides credit terms only for the long time customers with stable financial status. For new customers, the Company protects the risk by having a letter of credit (L/C) opened by the customer. Since the start of operation in 1985, the Company has encountered very few bad debts from the sales of coal.

Competitive Strategy

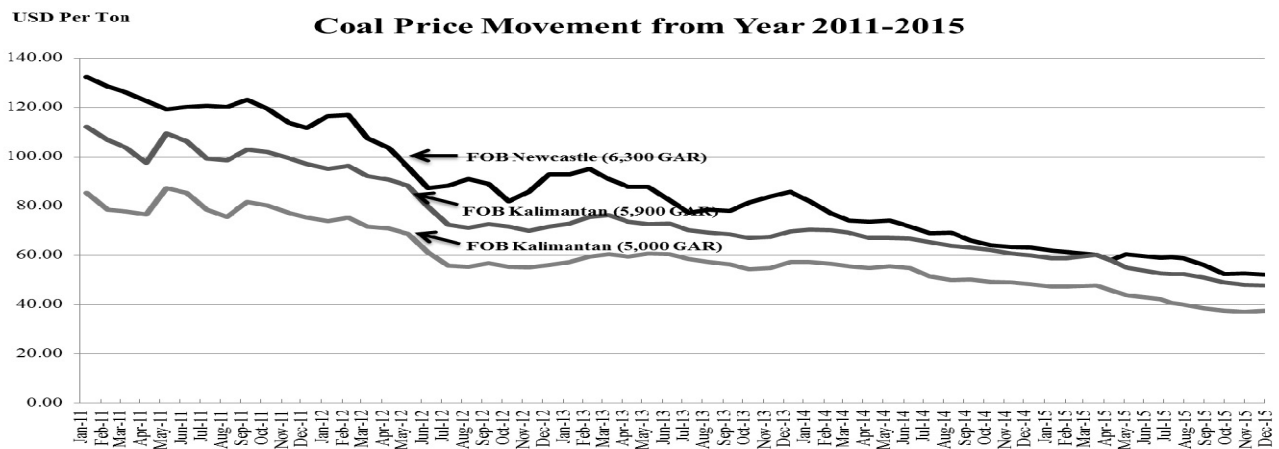

The Company focuses mainly on the service and quality control of the coal products as its marketing strategy rather than relying on pricing strategy. In addition, the Company has continually developed ways to produce high quality coal by bringing in modern technology for continuing improvement of coal production and operation.

Competition

The domestic coal distribution business has been recognized as an oligopoly market with only a few numbers of operators, having group of large industrial customers. Major competitor for the group of large industrial customers is Banpu Public Co., Ltd. As for the medium and small industrial customers, Energy Earth Public Co., Ltd., Unique Mining Services Public Co., Ltd., and Asia Green Energy Public Co., Ltd. are the main competitors. Since the Company has its own coal deposits with high quality coal and decades of mineable reserves, the Company therefore possesses sufficient competitive advantage and potential.

Industrial Trend

Platts: Coal Trader International (ICT)

Coal can be used as a substitute for almost every kind of fuel, depending mainly on the convenience of utilization and demand on heating energy. The trend of coal consumption is still growing as the price of oil and other sources of fuel are still significantly more costly than coal. Coal prices has been decreasing significantly since 2011 and it is expected that coal prices in 2016 will still fluctuate at low level due to excess supply of coal according to the economic climate and the downtrend of oil market.

ETHANOL-FOR-FUEL BUSINESS

Ethanol, also known as ethyl alcohol, is derived from digestion of starch to sugar (in case of starch raw material), and fermentation to convert sugar to alcohol; and then followed by distillation and dehydration to produce alcohol at the desired purity, up to 99.5% by volume. The raw materials of this process are agricultural products of starch and sugar crops, such as cassava, sugar cane, molasses and corn. The molecular formula of ethanol is C_2H_5OH with a boiling point at around $78^\circ C$. In general, its properties are transparent liquid, colorless, flammable, and high octane fuel. Since ethanol contains up to 35 percent of oxygen, it can be blended with gasoline at an appropriate amount to produce a clean and complete combustible fuel and reduce air pollution with less formation of hydrocarbon compound, carbon monoxide (CO) and carbon dioxide (CO_2), which is the main cause of green house effect, including reduction of black smoke, aromatics and benzene compound, which should be beneficial to the environment.

Ethanol is used to replace MTBE (Methyl Tertiary Butyl Ether), a fuel additive, to increase the octane value of gasoline. Nonetheless, MTBE is also harmful for causing carbon monoxide in the earth atmosphere and contamination to the underground water supply. As a result, it has been banned by several countries due to its impact on air pollution. Most importantly, Thailand has to spend several billion Baht annually for the import of MTBE.

Production of Ethanol for Fuel

Thai Agro Energy Co., Ltd. produces ethanol for fuel by using molasses and cassava as its main raw material. The ethanol production process consists of four main stages as follows:

(1) Mash Preparation: each type of raw material requires different processes as follows:

(a) Molasses: Preparation of molasses before fermentation by dilution with water for suitable concentration and added with acidic additive, causing organic substance or salt to settle from the molasses solvent.

(b) Cassavas: Prior fermentation, cassavas are cleaned to eliminate contaminants including metal and dirt. Subsequently, clean cassavas are mashed and mixed with water to make starch paste, then to be digested with enzyme, converting starch to sugar, before proceeding to fermentation.

(2) Fermentation: Solvent from the first stage is fed to fermentation tanks with yeast being added to convert sugar into alcohol.

(3) Distillation: Fermentation mash from the second stage is fed to the distillation column to separate contaminants and water producing about 96 percent pure alcohol which is the maximum concentration that can be achieved through this normal fermentation process. The remaining 4 percent of water shall be removed by the final stage.

(4) Dehydration: The water removal process for producing the dehydrated alcohol from the distillation process into 99.5 percent pure alcohol. Water content is absorbed by zeolites molecular sieves in two dehydration units. The dehydrated alcohol will then be distilled and cooled down before being stored for further distribution.

Ethanol Pricing Policy

The Energy Policy Council has approved the reference ethanol pricing by comparing the lowest prices between the ethanol price as reported to the Excise Department by ethanol producers and the ethanol price as reported to the Energy Policy and Planning Office (EPPO), Ministry of Energy, by Section 7 traders. The reference pricing was to be effective from December 2015 onwards.

The determination of ethanol selling price is based on cost-plus-margin basis, as well as other factors, including, ethanol raw material price, supply and demand, and domestic and international competition.

Ethanol Sales and Distribution Channels

In compliance with the regulation of the Excise Department, the ethanol product sold to oil companies must undergo denaturation process, in which ethanol of at least 99.5 percent by volume is mixed with gasoline or gasohol of 0.5 percent by volume. The result is denatured ethanol that can be sold to oil companies according to Section 7 of Fuel Trade Act B.E. 2543. The denatured ethanol purchased by the oil companies is then blended with gasoline at 10, 20 or 85 percent to become the Gasohol E10, E20 or E85. While most customers are responsible for the transportation of ethanol, in some cases the sellers are responsible for the transportation to the storages of a few other customers. Most of the sales are on credit term basis, and the customers are large oil companies with stable financial status. Therefore, the risk of bad debt is minimal.

Competitive Strategy

Priorities are to given to service and quality control of the products which have earned customers' trust, making it possible to retain majority of the market share.

Ethanol Industrial Trend

National Energy Policy Council (NEPC) has approved the application of the Alternative Energy Development Plan B.E. 2558-2579 on September 17, 2015. According to the plan, the proportion of alternative energy consumption is set at 30 percent of total energy consumption in year 2036, and ethanol demand targets are set for a twenty-year period (2015-2036): 5.09 million liters per day in 2019, 7.38 million liters per day in 2026, and 11.30 million liters per day in 2033. The demand targets are majorly derived from energy demand in transport sector and biofuel production capability. Accordingly, the Ministry of Energy has determined three strategies to promote alternative energy as follows: (1) Strategy #1: Preparation on raw material and alternative energy technology, (2) Strategy #2: Improvement on production, utilization, and market of alternative energy, and (3) Strategy #3: Enabling awareness and availability of knowledge and facts concerning alternative energy.

Additionally, NEPC has approved the Long-term National Oil Plan B.E. 2558-2579 (Oil Plan 2015) to set the direction of oil management in line with the Energy Efficiency Plan and Renewable Energy Development Plan. The main strategies of the Oil Plan 2015 include proper management of fuel category or type by decreasing the categories or types of fuel. Another strategy is to promote the Harmonisation of ASEAN Fuel Quality Standards (HAFQS) by decreasing the types of Gasohol E10, with discontinuation of Gasohol E10 - Octane 91 as top priority. Concurrently, a suitable pricing measure will be introduced by restructuring Gasohol E10 – Octane 95 pricing to reflect the production cost, and determination of appropriate price differentiation of each types of gasohol. Also, preparation on procurement of gasoline base is needed, as well as promoting usage of gasohol that is suitable for the type of automobile among consumers. Additionally, a working team on fuel quality standards in ASEAN region is needed to be established.

Due to the continuous downtrend of global crude oil price, consumers are turning to gasoline with less ethanol content, affecting especially Gasohol E85 with significant decrease in sales. Thus the ethanol promotion target may be affected. The sentiment is reflected by the stagnant demand of ethanol in 2015 at 3.49 liters per day on average. Additionally, the continuous decrease of global oil price has in turn decreased the price of ethanol, which is a material in gasohol.

Competition

Currently, ethanol produced to market in Thailand is from 22 plants, with total capacity of 5,040,000 liters per day, and can be categorized from its raw material as follows:

- (1) Molasses and sugarcane juice: 11 producers, with total production capacity of 2,510,000 liters per day.
- (2) Cassava and molasses: 4 producers, with total production capacity of 700,000 million liters per day.
- (3) Cassava: 7 producers, with total production capacity of 1,830,000 liters per day.

Additionally, two ethanol production plants are under construction, with total production capacity of 1,220,000 liters per day. After their completion, the domestic total ethanol production capacity will be 6,260,000 liters per day. Although the domestic ethanol demand has been increasing continuously and reached 3.49 million liters per day at the end of 2015, there is still an excess ethanol supply. Additionally, with the continuous decrease of global oil price to below USD 30-40 per barrel, ethanol producers are under pressure to decrease their selling prices according to the market.

Market share of TAE has been increasing continuously: from 7.37 percent in 2010 to 13.33 percent in 2012. In 2013, ethanol demand has increased 87.21 percent from 2012, an increase of almost twofold. As a result, the market share of TAE in 2013 has decreased to 7.12 percent. As for year 2015, the market share of TAE was 8.19 percent, similar to year 2014. Regardless, TAE has planned to operate its two ethanol production lines at higher capacity in 2016, and its market share should be improved this year of 2016.

RISK FACTORS

Lanna Resources Public Co., Ltd. (“Lanna”) and its subsidiary companies continuously conduct acceptable risk evaluation and management to prevent and mitigate possible impact as follows.

Risks in Coal Mining Business

(1) Coal Mining Operation Risk: Having been granted coal concessions of Coal Contract of Work type for the subsidiary companies, the Company thoroughly conducts proper exploration and assessment activities of the coal deposits to ensure adequate coal reserves for mining. The results of such exploration and assessment are the basis for designing of pit design and mine master plan in accordance with the international principles and standards prior to investment and commencement of coal mining activities. Risks associated with coal mining operation are mainly from natural occurrences, particularly for the coal deposits in Indonesia which experience heavy rain each year, hampering and delaying coal production and delivery. Accordingly, in order to mitigate such risks, the Company has established policy for the coal operation departments to adequately keep inventory of the finished coals for distribution according to the obligations from advance coal sale agreements.

(2) Coal Price Fluctuation Risk: Coal prices tend to fluctuate similarly to other types of fuel, depending on market demand and supply, with several factors affecting the coal prices. Although coal prices in 2015 continuously fell, a certain portion of coal sales is sold in advance to regulate the production plan. Also, coal production and coal sales plans are regularly updated in order to minimize any potential negative impact in case of higher production cost. The market and coal price trend are also closely evaluated in order to determine an appropriate timing of coal sale and purchase agreement negotiation with customers. The price is also index-linked, corresponding to the market to ensure preferable sale price and certainty in revenue.

(3) Risk in Coal Deliveries: The risk is mostly from unforeseen incidents, for example, heavy rain preventing coal production according to the plan which results in late coal delivery to the customers and demurrage incurred. Close communication between sales department and production department, and information tracking system are put in place in order to determine the production capacity, quality, and stock of coal at all times, allowing preemptive change of production and delivery plans. In 2015, no penalty was incurred due to late coal delivery.

(4) Risk from being Dependent on Coal Sales to the Major Customers: In 2015, the subsidiary companies in Indonesia have been able to find new customers with an aim not to depend on any specific customer. Additionally, with price of coal lower than other types of fuel, many industrial operators increasingly switches to coal as their source of energy every year, creating supply of new customers who sought to mitigate the risk.

(5) Risk from Customers’ Default on Coal Payment: While most domestic coal sales are sold with credit, the coal sales of the subsidiary companies in Indonesia require a letter of credit before coal delivery. However, credit terms are only extended to quality customers. The Company has established a credit committee for consideration of credit terms for the customers to carefully screen any credit sales. Furthermore, the Company has also set aside a provision for loss from doubtful debt in its accounts by considering the quality and period of outstanding debt in order to avoid any impact to the financial statements in the future for the case of bad debt.

(6) Fuel Product Substitutes Risk: Comparing the price per heat unit with other substituted fuels, such as fuel oil, diesel oil, and natural gas, the price per heat unit of coal is still significantly lower. Therefore, the risk from fuel product substitutes is still considered low.

(7) Coal Reserve Risk: In order to mitigate the risk concerning coal reserve depletion, the Company has established a policy for the continuous acquisition of additional coal deposits to compensate the amount of coal extracted each year. Moreover, operational audit is performed with the subsidiary companies. This is to warrant appropriate design and production processes for the geographic regions and ore orientation, ensuring that every process of the production is of international standards and highly efficient and allowing complete commercial utilization of coal reserves, according to the Australasian Code for Reporting Mineral Standards (“JORC Code”).

(8) Risk from Mining Contractors' Operation: The subsidiary companies hire mining contractors for coal winning and therefore, if the mining contractors could not perform their operation as planned – for example, procurement of machinery not according to the plan or inadequate maintenance – there would be adverse impact to the coal production and distribution of the Company and the subsidiary companies. Therefore, in order to prevent such risk, only reliable and experienced mining contractors with good work performance history are hired. The mining contracts entered with more than one contractor and are at least with three-year term to ensure that the contractors have sufficient work for their capital acquisition for machinery purchase and working capital. Additionally, the operation of contractors is closely monitored, and a weekly meeting is held together with every contractor for consideration on operating plan and solving any problems carefully.

(9) Environmental Risk: The Company and subsidiary companies have never neglected the good sense and its responsibility to the society, community and environment. Coal operations of the subsidiary companies must adhere to the mine plan and environmental impact analysis report, which have been approved by the authorities. The mined out land must be rehabilitated for improvement of environment, surrounding and ecology system with plantation of trees which are nature conservation. Improvement of surrounding land for several activities such as agricultural area, water reservoirs, residential area, etc. have been carried out by PT. Lanna Harita Indonesia (LHI) and PT. Singlurus Pratama (SGP), subsidiary companies, operating coal mines in Indonesia, having received environmental-related awards during year 2015 due to their environmental management well above the legislative requirement. As for the Ayutthaya Coal Distribution Center at Ayutthaya Province, which is the domestic operator, has taken care of the surrounding environment by planting trees around the area to protect against the wind and dust, as well as installing high pressure sprinklers to spray water around the coal stockpile and hauling road areas. Wastewater is channeled into the sediment pond so that the sediment will not flow into the public river. Coal hauling trucks are covered with canvases and wheels and tires are cleaned by driving into the water well so to protect them from carrying any scraps onto the public road. Monitoring of air quality and water quality are regularly conducted. Moreover, a close system of large silos has been constructed for coal storage that effectively minimizes dust dispersion.

Risks in Ethanol Business

Thai Agro Energy Public Co., Ltd. (“TAE”), a subsidiary company in Thailand, conducts its business in the production and distribution of ethanol-for-fuel for blending with the gasoline at different proportions to become the Gasohol for use in automobiles, namely, E10, E20, and E85. Major risks being managed are as follows:

(1) Risk from Procurement of Main Raw Material

Molasses is the main raw material used to produce ethanol, contributing more than 80 percent to the overall ethanol production cost. The volume of molasses produced each year depends on the volume of sugarcane entered into the process of the sugar factories in that year. Being an agricultural product, various factors affect the volume of sugarcane, for example, the size of land used to plant sugarcane which varies by the price of sugarcane comparing to other crops, climate, crop disease, and water level. Accordingly, TAE has entered into long-term sale and purchase agreements with domestic molasses sellers in order to conclude the volume and delivery schedule of molasses each year. This allows efficient management on molasses inventory and ethanol production. The risk of stoppage or reduced production due to inadequate molasses is also decreased.

(2) Risk from Fluctuation of Main Raw Material

Molasses is the main raw material used to produce ethanol, contributing more than 80 percent to the overall ethanol production cost, and changes on the price of molasses thus has an impact to the cost of ethanol production. The price of molasses varies by the supply and demand, following the same trend as the price of sugar. Also, the price of molasses is seasonal; the price is low during the harvest season due to high amount of molasses in the market, and the price will then increase as molasses in the market decreases. Therefore, if the molasses price jumps up rapidly, the selling cost and the profit margin of TAE may be affected since the selling price may not change proportionally with the increased cost of raw material. Recognizing this issue, TAE determines its ethanol selling price from the cost plus appropriate gross profit, with close and regular monitoring on the market and molasses price trend. Additionally, negotiations on the purchases of molasses are done in advance before the harvest season to ensure low and competitive price of molasses.

(3) Risk from being Dependent on Main Raw Material Seller

TAE purchases molasses from Mitr Phol Sugar Company Limited (“Mitr Phol”) in a long-term agreement at 40-50 percent of annual molasses consumption. The reason is that the sugar factory of Mitr Phol is located nearby the production plants of TAE which helps decrease the cost of molasses. Regardless, TAE always engages in long-term molasses purchase agreements with other producers annually in order to decrease its dependence on any one vendor.

(4) Risk from being Dependent on Major Customers

TAE sells ethanol-for-fuel to oil companies as defined by Section 7 of Fuel Trade Act B.E. 2543 for mixing in ethanol production. Being an oligopoly, the major buyers with high ethanol demand have more negotiating leverage in terms of price and selling terms, such as, longer credit term. However, without the purchase from the major buyers, or with lower volume of purchase, the revenue and profit of TAE may be affected. Accordingly, TAE focuses on keeping good relationship with customers, ensuring trust and satisfaction from customers. TAE also try to decrease its dependence on any single customer, having expanded its customer base to ensure ethanol sales target with optimal terms and prices.

(5) Risk from the Government Policy

The National Energy Policy Council (NEPC) has approved the Alternative Energy Development Plan B.E. 2558–2579, with target ethanol consumption in 2036 at 11.30 million liters per day with major consideration from energy demand of transport sector and bio-fuel production capability. Additionally, it also introduces termination of Gasohol E10 Octane 91, and adjustment to price structures of various types of gasohol in order to reduce costs of refineries and gas stations. TAE recognizes such risk and aims to manage the production and distribution of ethanol at highest efficacy, with emphasis on product quality and good relationship with customers, ensuring minimal impact from government policy.

(6) Risk from the Utilization of Biogas as Main Fuel

As one of the policies concerning cost reduction and improvement on ethanol production efficiency, TAE uses biogas as main fuel for steam and power generation in ethanol production instead of fuel oil. This greatly reduces the fuel cost. However, there is some risk from natural disaster, causing damage to the biogas ponds, rendering them dysfunctional and requiring substituted fuel (e.g. fuel oil, palm shell), increasing the cost of ethanol production. Recognizing such risk, TAE has strengthened the structure of the biogas ponds and conducts regular maintenance to ensure continuous and effective biogas generation. Moreover, insurance policies covering every type of risk from natural disaster are also in place.

(7) Risk from Environmental Impact

TAE places emphasis and recognizes the health impacts to the surrounding community, with great care to the environment and potential pollution. With rigorous zero discharge practice, treated spent wash will never be discharged to the public. Additionally, bio-scrubbers are used for removal hydrogen sulfide in biogas, which is used for steam and power generation. Thus, the resulting biogas is clean and has better quality, and potential air pollution that would have an impact on the surrounding community is minimized.

(8) Risk from Falling Global Oil Price

As gasohol is a mixture of ethanol and gasoline, significant and continuous downtrend of the global oil price will definitely affect the demand of ethanol for gasohol production, and ethanol producers will be pressed to reduce their ethanol selling prices. Recognizing this risk, TAE has endeavored to improve ethanol production process in order to decrease ethanol production cost. Also, any support will be made for the government in order to promote gasohol usage according to the Alternative Energy Development Plan B.E. 2558–2579 as mentioned above.

(9) Risk from Compliance with Loan Agreements

(9.1) Debt to Equity Ratio (D/E) and Debt Service Coverage Ratio (DSCR) Maintenance

TAE has a long-term loan agreement with a commercial bank, with the remaining loan as at end of 2015 of Baht 477.76 million. Accordingly, TAE is able to follow the terms and maintain its financial ratios as required. TAE also has short-term loan agreements with two commercial banks with the amount totaling Baht 1,650 million for working capital used to purchase molasses as raw material. As at yearend of 2015, the actual used amount of the short-term loan was Baht 964.93 million. TAE well recognizes this risk and thus manage its cash flow with prudence in order to prevent default of the loan agreements.

(9.2) Maintenance of shareholding of Lanna in TAE of no less than 50 percent of all shares during the whole duration of the loan agreement

The lending commercial bank has determined a condition concerning the maintenance of shareholding of Lanna in TAE of no less than 50 percent of all shares during the whole duration of the loan agreement. Therefore, if Lanna sells its shares in TAE and the shareholding proportion in TAE decreases to less than 50 percent of all shares, TAE has the risk of breaching the loan agreement condition, and the lending bank may demand a full repayment of loan, which will ultimately affect the liquidity and the operation of TAE. Accordingly, the management has informed the Board of Directors of Lanna regarding such condition. If Lanna plans to decrease its shareholding proportion in TAE in the future, a written notification is needed to be sent to TAE so that TAE may negotiate with the lending bank without breaching the loan agreement.

(9.3) Risk of TAE being unable to pay dividend to shareholders in the future

The lending commercial bank has determined that TAE may not pay dividend to its shareholders if TAE is unable to follow the conditions in the loan agreement – such as, D/E and DSCR maintenance, shareholding of Lanna, etc. – TAE will not be able to pay dividend to its shareholders, including Lanna. In the past, TAE never was unable to follow the terms, and it can maintain the required ratios.

Financial Risk

(1) Loan-Related Risk: Lanna had no loan in year 2015, and therefore, has no risk related to loan. Only Thai Agro Energy Public Co., Ltd. has short-term and long-term loans as reported in Risks in Ethanol Business.

(2) Overseas Investment Risk: Lanna has investments in the subsidiary and associated companies overseas in several currencies including Singapore Dollars, US Dollars and Indonesian Rupiahs, of which are long-term investments without definite term period, and therefore, there is currently no risk mitigation in place. If the time of project termination was known, this risk could be managed promptly and appropriately.

(3) Foreign Exchange Risk: Lanna has revenues from coal sales in Thai Baht currency and coal procurements for sales are done in US Dollar currency. While the revenues for coal sales of the subsidiary companies in Indonesia are in US Dollar but their operating expenses are paid in US Dollar and Indonesian Rupiah. As for the associated company in Singapore, the revenues are in US Dollar; however, the operating expenses are paid in US Dollar and Singapore Dollar. As a result, the Company and its affiliates possess foreign exchange related risk from changes of the aforementioned currency values. Accordingly, the Company mitigates the risk related to foreign exchange by entering into forward exchange contracts or deposit of foreign currencies received from coal sales to the Company's various bank accounts as cash reserves for payments of coals or future investments, protecting from possible future foreign exchange risk. In the past year, the foreign exchange is managed satisfactory, and there was no significant impact to the Company and its subsidiary companies.

Other Factors Having Impact on Investment

Apart from the aforementioned transactions, the Company and its subsidiary companies have no commitments or obligations regarding issued shares, warrants, convertible securities, debentures or other types of derivatives currently or in the future, as well as there are no unusual or serious event or important incident that might significantly affect financial status and operating results of the Company and its subsidiary companies.

In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

I believe that the audit evidence I have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for my audit opinion.

3. New financial reporting standards

Below is a summary of financial reporting standards that became effective in the current accounting year and those that will become effective in the future.

(a) Financial reporting standards that became effective in the current year

The Group has adopted the revised (revised 2014) and new financial reporting standards issued by the Federation of Accounting Professions which become effective for fiscal years beginning on or after 1 January 2015. These financial reporting standards were aimed at alignment with the corresponding International Financial Reporting Standards, with most of the changes directed towards revision of wording and terminology, and provision of interpretations and accounting guidance to users of standards. The adoption of these financial reporting standards does not have any significant impact on the Company's and its subsidiaries' financial statements. However, some of these standards involve changes to key principles, which are summarised below:

TAS 19 (revised 2014) Employee Benefits

This revised standard requires that the entity recognise actuarial gains and losses immediately in other comprehensive income while the former standard allowed the entity to recognise such gains and losses immediately in either profit or loss or other comprehensive income, or to recognise them gradually in profit or loss.

The Company and its subsidiaries have changed the recognition of actuarial gains and losses in the current period from an immediate recognition in profit or loss to an immediate recognition in other comprehensive income and restated the prior period's financial statements, presented as comparative information, as if the Company had always applied this accounting policy. The cumulative effect of changes in accounting policies is presented in Note 4 to the financial statements. However, the change has no impact on the prior year's separate financial statements, presented as comparative information.

TFRS 10 Consolidated Financial Statements

TFRS 10 prescribes requirements for the preparation of consolidated financial statements and replaces the content of TAS 27 Consolidated and Separate Financial Statements dealing with consolidated financial statements. This standard changes the principles used in considering whether control exists. Under this standard, an investor is deemed to have control over an investee if it has rights, or is exposed, to variable returns from its involvement with the investee, and it has the ability to direct the activities that affect the amount of its returns, even if it holds less than half of the shares or voting rights. This important change requires the management to exercise a lot of judgement when reviewing whether the Company and its subsidiaries have control over investees and determining which entities have to be included in preparation of the consolidated financial statements.

This standard does not have any impact on the Company's and its subsidiaries' financial statements.

TFRS 12 Disclosure of Interests in Other Entities

This standard stipulates disclosures relating to an entity's interests in subsidiaries, joint arrangements and associates, including structured entities. This standard therefore has no financial impact on the financial statements of the Company and its subsidiaries.

TFRS 13 Fair Value Measurement

This standard provides guidance on how to measure fair value and stipulates disclosures related to fair value measurement. Entities are to apply the guidance under this standard if they are required by other financial reporting standards to measure their assets or liabilities at fair value. The effects of the adoption of this standard are to be recognised prospectively.

This standard does not have any significant impact on the Company's and its subsidiaries' financial statements.

TFRIC 20 Stripping Costs in the Production Phase of a Surface Mine

This financial reporting standard interpretation establishes the accounting for stripping costs in the production phase of a surface mine. This TFRIC requires the stripping costs during the production phase are capitalised as part of the deferred stripping costs if, and only if, all of the following are met:

- a) It is probable that the future economic benefit (improved access to the ore body) associated with the stripping activity will flow to the subsidiaries.
- b) The subsidiaries can identify the component of the ore body for which access has been improved.
- c) The costs relating to the stripping activity associated with that component can be measured reliably.

The deferred stripping costs shall be initially recognised at cost and subsequently stated at cost less accumulated amortisation, which is calculated using the proportion of unit produced to total reserves, and allowance for impairment (if any). In case when the future benefit of these assets is in doubt, they are written off to period expenses immediately.

In 2014, the Group has early adopted this TFRIC which resulted in the initial recognition of deferred stripping costs and subsequent amortisation is determined by reference to components of the ore body rather than by reference to the entire operation. In addition, the amortisation of deferred stripping costs shall be calculated using the proportion of unit produced rather than using the stripping ratios.

(b) Financial reporting standard that will become effective in the future

During the current year, the Federation of Accounting Professions issued a number of the revised (revised 2015) and new financial reporting standards and accounting treatment guidance which is effective for fiscal years beginning on or after 1 January 2016. These financial reporting standards were aimed at alignment with the corresponding International Financial Reporting Standards. The Company's and its subsidiaries' management believes that the revised and new financial reporting standards and accounting treatment guidance will not have any significant impact on the financial statements when it is initially applied.

4. Cumulative effect of changes in accounting policies due to the adoption of new financial reporting standard

As described in Note 3 to the financial statements, during the current year, the Company and its subsidiaries have changed some of their accounting policies, as a result of the adoption of new and revised financial reporting standards.

The amounts of adjustments affecting the consolidated statements of income and comprehensive income are summarised below.

5. Significant accounting policies

5.1 Revenue Recognition

Sales of goods

Sales of goods are recognised when the significant risks and rewards of ownership of the goods have passed to the buyer. Sales are the invoiced value, excluding value added tax, of goods supplied after deducting discounts and allowances.

Income from coal sales are recorded according to the weight as recorded at the Company's site or the customer's site. Adjustments of the sales price due to quality and weight considerations are recognised in the month in which notification is received from customers.

Commission and marketing service income

Commission and marketing service income are recognised on an accrual basis when overseas subsidiaries sell coal to the buyer who the Company provides to subsidiaries.

Service income

Service income is recognised on an accrual basis when overseas subsidiary sells coal which is produced from its concession area to the buyer.

Interest income

Interest income is recognised on an accrual basis based on the effective interest rate.

Dividends

Dividends are recognised when the right to receive the dividends is established.

5.2 Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents consist of cash in hand and at banks, and all highly liquid investments with an original maturity of three months or less and not subject to withdrawal restrictions.

5.3 Trade accounts receivable

Trade accounts receivable are stated at the net realisable value. Allowance for doubtful accounts is provided for the estimated losses that may be incurred in collection of receivables. The allowance is generally based on collection experiences and analysis of debt aging.

5.4 Inventories

Inventories are valued at the lower of cost (under the weighted average method) and net realisable value. The cost of finished goods and work in process includes cost of material, labour and overheads.

Supplies and spare parts are value at the lower of cost (under the weighted average method) and net realisable value and are charged to production costs whenever consumed.

Allowance for diminution in inventory value is provided for the excess of cost over the net realisable value of inventories and for slow moving or deteriorated inventories.

Net realisable value is selling price in normal course of business less other costs incurred to sell the goods.

5.5 Investments

- a) Investments in securities held for trading are stated at fair value. Change in the fair value of these securities, which is determined from their net asset value, are recorded in profit or loss.
- b) Investment in associated company is accounted for in the consolidated financial statements using the equity method.
- c) Investments in subsidiaries and associated company are accounted for in the separate financial statements using the cost method net of allowance for impairment loss (if any).

On disposal of an investment, the difference between net disposal proceeds and the carrying amount of the investment is recognised in profit or loss.

5.6 Investment properties

Investment properties, which are plots of land, are initially measured at cost, including transaction costs. Subsequent to initial recognition, investment properties are stated at cost less allowance for loss on impairment (if any).

On disposal of investment properties, the difference between the net disposal proceeds and the carrying amount of the asset is recognised in profit or loss in the period when the asset is derecognised.

5.7 Property, plant and equipment and depreciation

Land is stated at cost. Building and equipment are stated at cost less accumulated depreciation and allowance for loss on impairment of assets (if any).

The cost of property, plant and equipment also includes the initial estimate of the cost of dismantling and removing an item and restoring the site on which it is located, the obligation for which an entity incurs either when the item is acquired or as a consequence of having used the item during a particular period for purposes other than to produce inventories during that period.

Depreciation of plant and equipment is calculated by reference to their costs on the straight-line basis over the following estimated useful lives:

Land improvement	5 - 10 years
Building and amenities	5 - 30 years
Machinery and equipment	4 - 30 years
Furniture and office equipment	3 - 15 years
Vehicles	5 - 10 years

Depreciation is included in determining income.

No depreciation is provided on assets under construction and installation, land improvement of a local subsidiary and land, except for mining land which is depleted in accordance with the difference between its purchase cost and fair value and on the basis of units produced in proportion to the total coal reserves.

An item of property, plant and equipment is derecognised upon disposal or when no future economic benefits are expected from its use or disposal. Any gain or loss arising on disposal of an asset is included in profit or loss when the asset is derecognised.

5.8 Intangible assets

Intangible assets are initially recognised at cost. Following the initial recognition, the intangible assets are carried at cost less accumulated amortisation and accumulated impairment losses (if any).

Intangible assets with finite lives are amortised on a systematic basis over the economic useful life and tested for impairment whenever there is an indication that the intangible asset may be impaired. The amortisation period and the amortisation method of such intangible assets are reviewed at least at each financial year end. The amortisation expense is charged to profit or loss.

Intangible asset with finite useful lives, which is computer software, has useful lives of 3 - 10 years.

5.9 Other non-current assets

Assets under exploration for and evaluation of mineral resources

Exploration and evaluation expenditures of the subsidiaries involve expenditures relating to the search for mineral resources after the subsidiaries have obtained legal rights to explore in a specific area, as well as the determination of the technical feasibility and commercial viability of extracting the mineral resource such as license costs, expenditures from topographical, geological, geochemical and geophysical studies, exploratory drilling expenditure and sampling expenditure.

Exploration and evaluation expenditures are recorded as assets except for administration expenditures that are not directly attributable to the specific area are charged to profit or loss. Following the initial recognition, exploration and evaluation assets are stated at cost less allowance for impairment (if any). In case when the future benefit of these assets is in doubt, they are written off to period expenses immediately.

Exploration and evaluation assets are classified as part of deferred exploration and development costs when proven reserves of the specific area are completely determined.

Deferred exploration and development costs

Development expenditures and incorporated costs before the production stage, which are net of proceeds from the sale of coal extracted during the development phase, are capitalised as deferred exploration and development costs. When the mine construction project moves into the production stage, deferred exploration and development costs are amortised as expenses in accordance with the proportion of units produced to total coal reserves.

Deferred stripping costs

Stripping costs/overburden removal expenses during the development phase of the mine are capitalised as part of the deferred stripping costs.

Stripping costs during the production phase are capitalised as part of the deferred stripping costs if, and only if, all of the following are met:

- a) It is probable that the future economic benefit (improved access to the ore body) associated with the stripping activity will flow to the subsidiaries.
- b) The subsidiaries can identify the component of the ore body for which access has been improved.
- c) The costs relating to the stripping activity associated with that component can be measured reliably.

The deferred stripping costs shall be initially recognised at cost and subsequently stated at cost less accumulated amortisation, which is calculated using the proportion of unit produced to total reserves, and allowance for impairment (if any). In case when the future benefit of these assets is in doubt, they are written off to period expenses immediately.

5.10 Goodwill

Goodwill is initially recorded at cost, which equals to the excess of cost of business combination over the fair value of the net assets acquired. If the fair value of the net assets acquired exceeds the cost of business combination, the excess is immediately recognised as gain in the profit or loss.

Goodwill is carried at cost less any accumulated impairment losses (if any). Goodwill is tested for impairment annually and when circumstances indicate that the carrying value may be impaired.

For the purpose of impairment testing, goodwill acquired in a business combination is allocated to each of the Company's cash generating units (or group of cash-generating units) that are expected to benefit from the synergies of the combination. The Company estimates the recoverable amount of each cash-generating unit (or group of cash-generating units) to which the goodwill relates. Where the recoverable amount of the cash-generating unit is less than the carrying amount, an impairment loss is recognised in profit or loss. Impairment losses relating to goodwill cannot be reversed in future periods.

5.11 Related party transactions

Related parties comprise enterprises and individuals that control, or are controlled by, the Company, whether directly or indirectly, or which are under common control with the Company.

They also include associated companies and individuals which directly or indirectly own a voting interest in the Company that gives them significant influence over the Company, key management personnel, directors, and officers with authority in the planning and direction of the Company's operations.

5.12 Long-term leases

Leases of property, plant or equipment which transfer substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership are classified as finance leases. Finance leases are capitalised at the lower of the fair value of the leased assets and the present value of the minimum lease payments. The outstanding rental obligations, net of finance charges, are included in long-term payables, while the interest element is charged to profit or loss over the lease period. The assets acquired under finance leases is depreciated over the shorter of the useful life of the asset and the lease period.

Leases of property, plant or equipment which do not transfer substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership are classified as operating leases. Operating lease payments are recognised as an expense in profit or loss on a straight line basis over the lease term.

5.13 Foreign currencies

The consolidated and separate financial statements are presented in Baht, which is also the Company's functional currency. Items of each entity included in the consolidated financial statements are measured using the functional currency of that entity.

Transactions in foreign currencies are translated into Baht at the exchange rate ruling at the date of the transaction. Monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are translated into Baht at the exchange rate ruling at the end of reporting period.

Gains and losses on exchange are included in determining income.

5.14 Impairment of assets

At the end of each reporting period, the Company and its subsidiaries perform impairment reviews in respect of the property, plant and equipment and other intangible assets whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that an asset may be impaired. The Company and its subsidiaries also carry out annual impairment reviews in respect of goodwill. An impairment loss is recognised when the recoverable amount of an asset, which is the higher of the asset's fair value less costs to sell and its value in use, is less than the carrying amount. In determining value in use, the estimated future cash flows are discounted to their present value using a pre-tax discount rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and the risks specific to the asset. In determining fair value less costs to sell, an appropriate valuation model is used. These calculations are corroborated by a valuation model that, based on information available, reflects the amount that the Company and its subsidiaries could obtain from the disposal of the asset in an arm's length transaction between knowledgeable, willing parties, after deducting the costs of disposal.

An impairment loss is recognised in profit or loss.

In the assessment of asset impairment if there is any indication that previously recognised impairment losses may no longer exist or may have decreased, the Company and its subsidiaries estimate the asset's recoverable amount. A previously recognised impairment loss is reversed only if there has been a change in the assumptions used to determine the asset's recoverable amount since the last impairment loss was recognised. The increased carrying amount of the asset attributable to a reversal of an impairment loss shall not exceed the carrying amount that would have been determined had no impairment loss been recognised for the asset in prior years. Such reversal is recognised in profit or loss.

5.15 Employee benefits

Short-term employee benefits

Salaries, wages, bonuses and contributions to the social security fund are recognised as expenses when incurred.

Post-employment benefits

Defined contribution plans

The Company, a subsidiary and their employees have jointly established a provident fund. The fund is monthly contributed by employees and by the Company and the subsidiary. The fund's assets are held in a separate trust fund and the Company's and the subsidiary's contributions are recognised as expenses when incurred.

Defined benefit plans

The Company and its subsidiaries have obligations in respect of the severance payments they must make to employees upon retirement under labor law. The Company and its subsidiaries treat these severance payment obligations as a defined benefit plan.

The obligation under the defined benefit plan is determined by professionally qualified independent actuaries based on actuarial techniques, using the projected unit credit method.

Actuarial gains and losses arising from post-employment benefits are recognised immediately in other comprehensive income.

5.16 Government grants related to assets

Government grants are recognised when there is reasonable assurance that the grants will be received and all attached conditions will be complied with. Government grants related to assets are presented as a deducting to the value of the related assets and are recognised in profit or loss over the useful life of the assets as a reduced depreciation expense.

5.17 Provisions

Provisions are recognised when the Company and its subsidiaries have a present obligation as a result of a past event, it is probable that an outflow of resources embodying economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation, and a reliable estimate can be made of the amount of the obligation.

5.18 Provision for mine reclamation and decommissioning costs

The subsidiaries recognise a provision for mine reclamation and decommissioning costs where an obligation exists. The estimated amount of the eventual costs relating to the site restoration and reclamation is discounted to its present value. Such costs are included in profit or loss based on the unit-of-production method on the total estimated reclamation and decommissioning costs over the total proven reserves.

5.19 Income tax

Income tax expense represents the sum of corporate income tax currently payable and deferred tax.

Current tax

Current income tax is provided in the accounts at the amount expected to be paid to the taxation authorities, based on taxable profits determined in accordance with tax legislation.

Deferred tax

Deferred income tax is provided on temporary differences between the tax bases of assets and liabilities and their carrying amounts at the end of each reporting period, using the tax rates enacted at the end of the reporting period.

The Company and its subsidiaries recognise deferred tax liabilities for all taxable temporary differences while they recognise deferred tax assets for all deductible temporary differences and tax losses carried forward to the extent that it is probable that future taxable profit will be available against which such deductible temporary differences and tax losses carried forward can be utilised.

At each reporting date, the Company and its subsidiaries review and reduce the carrying amount of deferred tax assets to the extent that it is no longer probable that sufficient taxable profit will be available to allow all or part of the deferred tax asset to be utilised.

The Company and its subsidiaries record deferred tax directly to shareholders' equity if the tax relates to items that are recorded directly to shareholders' equity.

5.20 Derivatives

Forward exchange contracts

Receivables and payables arising from forward exchange contracts are translated into Baht at the rates of exchange ruling at the end of reporting period. Unrecognised gains and losses from the translation are included in determining income. Premiums or discounts on forward exchange contracts are amortised on a straight-line basis over the contract periods.

5.21 Fair value measurement

Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between buyer and seller (market participants) at the measurement date. The Company and its subsidiaries apply a quoted market price in an active market to measure their assets and liabilities that are required to be measured at fair value by relevant financial reporting standards. Except in case of no active market of an identical asset or liability or when a quoted market price is not available, the Company and its subsidiaries measure fair value using valuation technique that are appropriate in the circumstances and maximises the use of relevant observable inputs related to assets and liabilities that are required to be measured at fair value.

All assets and liabilities for which fair value is measured or disclosed in the financial statements are categorised within the fair value hierarchy into three levels based on categorise of input to be used in fair value measurement as follows:

Level 1 - Use of quoted market prices in an observable active market for such assets or liabilities

Level 2 - Use of other observable inputs for such assets or liabilities, whether directly or indirectly

Level 3 - Use of unobservable inputs such as estimates of future cash flows

At the end of each reporting period, the Company and its subsidiaries determine whether transfers have occurred between levels within the fair value hierarchy for assets and liabilities held at the end of the reporting period that are measured at fair value on a recurring basis.

6. Significant accounting judgements and estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with financial reporting standards at times requires management to make subjective judgements and estimates regarding matters that are inherently uncertain. These judgements and estimates affect reported amounts and disclosures; and actual results could differ from these estimates. Significant judgements and estimates are as follows:

Coal reserve estimates

The subsidiaries determine coal reserve based on best estimate of product that can be economically extracted from the relevant mining area. Such determination is made based on various assumptions including stripping ratios, production costs, transport costs, coal prices and exchange rates.

Leases

In determining whether a lease is to be classified as an operating lease or finance lease, the management is required to use judgement regarding whether significant risk and rewards of ownership of the leased asset has been transferred, taking into consideration terms and conditions of the arrangement.

Allowance for doubtful accounts

In determining an allowance for doubtful accounts, the management needs to make judgement and estimates based upon, among other things, past collection history, aging profile of outstanding debts and the prevailing economic condition.

Allowance for diminution in inventory value

In determining an allowance for diminution in inventory value, the management needs to make judgement in estimating loss from slow moving and deteriorated inventories including the effect from declining in net realisable value of inventories.

Allowance for impairment of investments

The Company treats investments as impaired when there has been a significant or prolonged decline in the fair value below their cost or where other objective evidence of impairment exists. The determination of what is “significant” or “prolonged” requires judgement of the management.

Property, plant and equipment and depreciation

In determining depreciation of plant and equipment, the management is required to make estimates of the useful lives and residual values of the plant and equipment and to review estimate useful lives and residual values when there are any changes.

In addition, the management is required to review property, plant and equipment for impairment on a periodical basis and record impairment losses when it is determined that their recoverable amount is lower than the carrying amount. This requires judgements regarding forecast of future revenues and expenses relating to the assets subject to the review.

Goodwill

The initial recognition and measurement of goodwill, and subsequent impairment testing, require management to make estimates of cash flows to be generated by the asset or the cash generating units and to choose a suitable discount rate in order to calculate the present value of those cash flows.

Deferred tax assets

Deferred tax assets are recognised for deductible temporary differences and unused tax losses to the extent that it is probable that taxable profit will be available against which the temporary differences and losses can be utilised. Significant management judgement is required to determine the amount of deferred tax assets that can be recognised, based upon the likely timing and level of estimate future taxable profits.

Post-employment benefits under defined benefit plans

The obligation under the defined benefit plan is determined based on actuarial techniques. Such determination is made based on various assumptions, including discount rate, future salary increase rate, mortality rate and staff turnover rate.

Provision for mine reclamation and decommissioning costs

The majority of the decommissioning and reclamation costs is incurred at the end of a mine's life. In determining a provision for such costs, the management needs to make judgement regarding the expected future costs to be incurred, the timing of these expected future costs, largely dependent on the life of the mine, and the estimated future level of inflation.

Litigation

The subsidiaries have contingent liabilities as a result of litigation. The management has used judgement to assess the results of the litigation and believes that no loss will result. Therefore, no contingent liabilities are recorded as at the end of reporting period.

Operating segment information is reported in a manner consistent with the internal reports that are regularly reviewed by the chief operating decision maker in order to make decisions about the allocation of resources to the segment and assess its performance.

ANALYSIS OF FINANCIAL STATUS AND OPERATING RESULTS

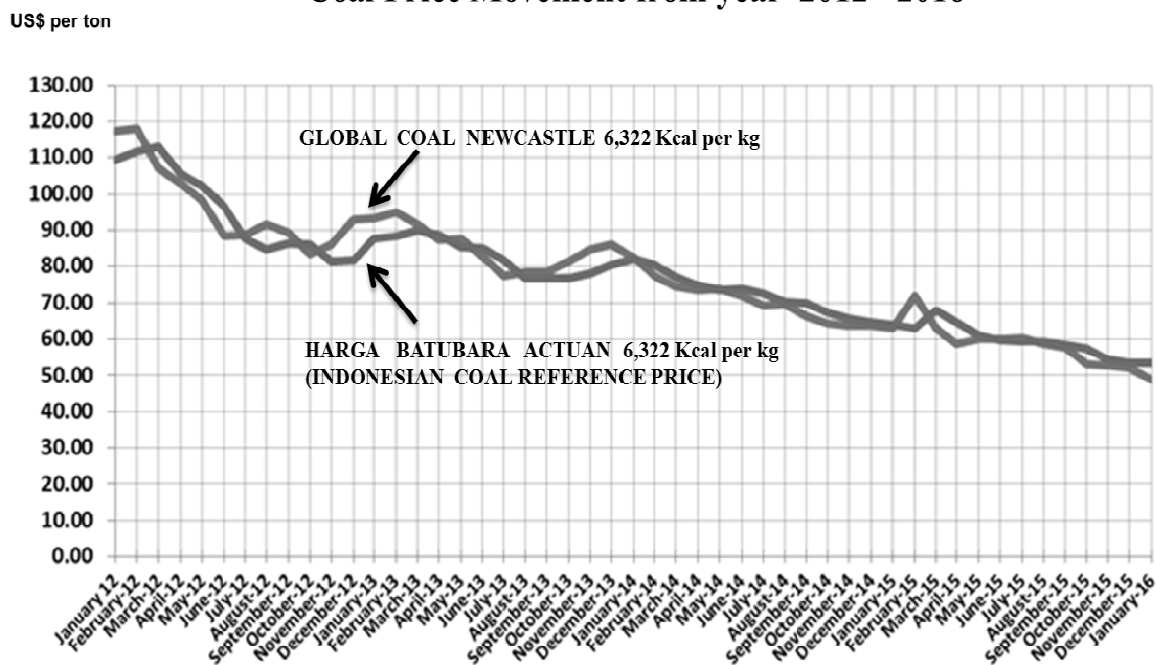

(For the Consolidated Financial Statements of Year 2015)

OVERALL OPERATING RESULTS

The Company's revenue in year 2015 were Baht 10,182.16 million, which decreased from the previous year by Baht 2,063.54 million or 16.85 percent. The net profit in year 2015 was Baht 309.61 million, which decreased from the previous year by Baht 117.16 million or 27.45 percent. This was due to the decrease in revenue and net profit from coal business in line with the continuously falling coal price in global market. Meanwhile, the revenue and net profit from ethanol business are good due to the Government policy on the termination of Gasoline 91 and promotion for usage of Gasohol E10 and E20.

COAL BUSINESS: The coal prices in global market have been continuously decreasing. The Company still employs mining cost reduction strategy and carefully selects the product mix with high price and profit.

Coal Price Movement from year 2012 - 2016

In summary, the revenue of the coal business in year 2015 was Baht 7,550.01 million, which decreased from the previous year by Baht 2,161.89 million or 22.26 percent due to the decrease in coal sales volume and average selling price by 15.75 and 7.73 percent, respectively. The resulting net profit derived from shareholding proportion in year 2015 was Baht 129.98 million, which decreased from the previous year by 41.50 percent. Regardless, while the operating results of the coal business declines, it remains continuously profitable.

ETHANOL BUSINESS: The average ethanol selling price in year 2015 slightly decreased from the previous year by 2.27 percent. However, the ethanol demand increased from the previous year by 8.80 percent due to continuous increase in consumption of Gasohol E10 and E20, resulting in an increase in ethanol being used for the gasohol mixture. In summary, the revenue of the ethanol business in year 2015 was Baht 2,600.32 million, which increased from the previous year by Baht 104.04 million or 4.17 percent. The net profit in year 2015 was Baht 244.27 million, which increased from the previous year by Baht 24.96 million or 11.38 percent. However, the resulting net profit derived from shareholding proportion of the Company in 2015 was Baht 122.34 million, which decreased from the previous year by 14.94 percent. This was due to the selling of ordinary shares in the subsidiary company in ethanol business according to the spin-off plan in 2014, resulting in the decrease in Company's shareholding from 75.75 percent to 51 percent of paid-up capital. Accordingly, the net profit derived from shareholding proportion thus decreased from the previous year.
